ABOUT ME

A frontend developer resume is a document that showcases your skills, experience, and qualifications for the job of creating and maintaining the user interface of a website or application. It should include a headline or summary statement that communicates your goals and relevance to the position. It should also highlight your proficiency in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and frameworks such as AngularJS, ReactJS, and VueJS. Depending on the format of your resume, you may also want to include a skills section that lists your soft skills, languages, and tools. Your resume should be tailored to the specific front-end development role you are applying for and demonstrate how you used your skills to deliver on projects

WORK EXPERIENCE

When writing about your work experience as a web frontend developer on your resume, you should describe your experience in creating and maintaining the user interface of a website or application. You should also highlight your proficiency in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and frameworks such as AngularJS, ReactJS, and VueJS. Depending on the format of your resume, you may also want to include a skills section that lists your soft skills, languages, and tools.
